

For Immediate Release
December 8, 2009

CONTACT: Myra Orenstein
catv@roadrunner.com
216-932-3322

Do the Browns Rule or Drool?

Find out if the Got City Game, Cleveland teams can make more completions than our own Browns. Set in Cleveland Public Theatre (CPT), this week's hilarious challenge pits team against team to see who should replace Brady Quinn next season. The girls have the dog bowls – the guys have the footballs, and it's a race against the clock to get their points – all while the "BROWNS RULES" band plays on....

"Do the Browns Rule or Drool?" is a take off on the CPT's World Premiere of Browns Rules, a cabaret-style play by nationally recognized local playwright Eric Schmiedl. Browns Rules is both a send-up and a love-letter to The Cleveland Browns.

"The teams are really showing this town what team spirit is all about," states T.L. Champion, executive producer of Got City Game, Cleveland.

"Got City Game, Cleveland has received tens of thousands of hits in the first couple of weeks," remarks Barbara Oney, executive producer of Got City Game. "There are already several thousand votes registered for the teams. The analytics are showing an audience from around the globe, with Canada, England and Italy showing a strong presence. And we have only released three of the 15 shows so far. We're starting the season strong." _____

Got City GAME! (GCG) is a non-profit talent-attraction initiative intent on creating a concrete shift in people's attitude and perception of the Learning, Earning and Living assets of Northeast Ohio. It has been awarded the Cleveland Foundation's Civic Innovation Lab Grant, and the founders have been honored as "Heroes" by Employers Resource Council for the project's talent attraction impact. Got City GAME! has been selected for the "Best Of Cleveland" in Scene magazine. For more details watch the video at: www.gotcitygame.tv.