The Gordon Square Computer Lab Reopens!

The Gordon Square computer lab, located in the Gordon Square Arcade at 6516 Detroit Avenue, has reopened to the public. Earlier this year, Detroit Shoreway Community Development Organization (DSCDO) secured a $40,000 Cleveland Foundation grant to reopen both the Gordon Square computer lab in the Detroit Shoreway neighborhood and the Lin Omni Building computer lab (3167 Fulton Road) in the Clark-Fulton neighborhood.

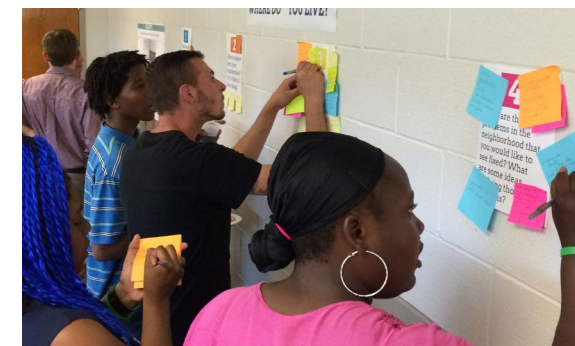

DSCDO hired Digital Literacy coordinator Alicia Greasby to staff both computer labs. The Gordon Square lab is open 10am-5pm Wednesdays, 11am-6pm Thursdays, and 1-5pm every other Friday starting May 10th. Community members are invited to stop by to ask Alicia any computer-related questions and learn more about upcoming workshops. She can assist with Google Suite, Microsoft Office, online bill payment and more.

The first workshop for teens and young adults teaches basic science and physics within Minecraft maps. Eight spots for registrants are available in the Gordon Square lab for June 24th-28th, 1-3pm each day. Future workshops will cover a variety of topics, such as coding, game design and social media.

Contact Alicia about the lab and programming at 216.961.9073 x235 or agreasby@dscdo.org

Youth Leadership Council

Applications are open for residents ages 14-24 living in the Detroit Shoreway, Cudell and Edgewater neighborhoods to apply to serve on a Youth Leadership Council (YLC). Through the YLC, youth can exercise leadership and create the change they want to see in their neighborhoods. YLC was created through MyCom, a network connecting Greater Cleveland youth to programming. One of MyCom's guiding principles is for youth to have a voice in the creation of activities in their communities.

All youth that serve on the council will be given a $500 stipend. Application Deadline: June 15th, 2019. To learn more and apply, contact David Ramsey at dramsey@dscdo.org or call 216.961.4242 x242.
